

CHILD LABOUR AND REMEDIATION POLICY

Debenhams group prohibits the use of any form of Child Labour (as defined below) throughout its supply chain.

There shall be no recruitment of Child Labour throughout any part of the Debenhams supply chain.

Suppliers must develop policies and processes to ensure that the risk of Child Labour is addressed within their supply chains and businesses.

As a Debenhams supplier, you must ensure all of your policies and procedures relating to Child Labour shall conform to the provisions of the relevant International Labour Organisation (ILO) Standards.

Definitions

Child or Children – A “Child” is defined as someone who has not reached their 15th birthday, or any higher age specified in local law for completing schooling or beginning full time work. Children is the collective term.

Child Worker – a Child who is not legally entitled to work meaning they are below the minimum age of employment but seems to be employed.

Child Labour – a term that includes the employment of a Child Worker.

Hazardous Work – any work carried out that is likely to harm the health, safety or morals of a Child or Young Worker. This includes working with chemicals, machinery or electrics; working in confined spaces, at height or in excessively hot or cold conditions; being exposed to dust, fumes or loud noise; lifting or carrying heavy loads; working overtime or working at night.

Young Worker – a young person who is legally entitled to work meaning that they are above the minimum age of 15 but below the age of 18.

Labour Agency – a person/company who engage in the recruitment of workers for factories or suppliers.

Debenhams Stance

Child Workers must not be involved in the manufacture or supply of goods to Debenhams.

A Child must not be permitted in any production areas at any time.

CHILD LABOUR AND REMEDIATION POLICY

This includes a Child of workers who live in factory accommodation and a Child brought into care facilities on site.

Debenhams support the compliant, safe and legal employment of Young Workers within its supply chain, provided adequate precautions are put on place for the protection of the Young Workers. This includes ensuring Young Workers do not participate in any Hazardous Work.

No Young Workers shall be employed in any factory through a labour agent in any part of the Debenhams supply chain. It is our belief that Young Workers, and Children, are vulnerable to exploitation, particularly if recruited via a Labour Agent.
